CONGRESSIONAL SUMMARY

CONGRESS has adjourned for the l oliday recess.

THE SENTINEL predicts that not a ringle manufacturer in this city will patropize the water works if the supply is obtained from wells.

EX-SECRETARY MCCULLOCH has issued a letter urging the withdrawal of all small notes, and the substitu-tion therefor of silver coins. He holds that the advantage and convenience of small notes is largely overestimated in this country, and points to the fact that the Bank of England issues no notes of smaller denominations than five pounds. Mr. McCur. LOCH enforces his views with much ability and vigor.

It is easy to find fault, but when captious criticisms are made upon the Fort Wayne public schools, the fact stands out that our schools are universally acknowledged to be the best in the state. The tree is known by its fruits, and our public schools speak for themselves in testimony to the efficiency and industry of our school board. They can afford to ignore hostile criticisms and proudly point to the results of their work.

THE SENTINEL predicts that not a single manufacturer in this city will patronize the water works if the supply is obtained from wells.

EX-SECRETARY McCulloch has issued a letter urging the withdrawal of all small notes, and the substitution therefor of silver coins. He holds that the advantage and convenience of small notes is largely overestimated in this country, and points to the fact that the Bank of England issues no notes of smaller denominations than five pounds. Mr. McCul.-LOCH enforces his views with much ability and vigor.

It is easy to find fault, but when captious criticisms are made upon the Fort Wayne public schools, the fact stands out that our schools are universally acknowledged to be the best in the state. The tree is known by its fruits, and our public schools speak for themselves in testimony to the efficiency and industry of our school board. They can afford to ignore hostile criticisms and proudly point to the results of their work.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

Society circles have been rather dull the past week, and at first this seems hard to account for. On closer investigation, however, a sufficient number of good reasons may be found. In the first place, the ladies are busy with those slippers, dressing gowns, panel pictures, etc., etc. for father, husband or brother (somebody else's). Then the gentlemen are busy, extremely busy, for as a general thing the gentleman has to wait on these afore-mentioned ladies that they may procure the materials for all these presents. Then the young man has to get lots of things for his particular affinity, and he is altogether too busy trying to think what it shall be to busy trying to think what it shall be to devote any time to any other subject. And last, but not least, everybody is resting preparatory to the whirl of festivities the coming week.

A number of very brilliant affairs occurred during the week, noticeably among which were the Qui Vive hop at Arion Hall, last evening, and the crystal wedding of Mr. and Mrs. DeGroff Nelson, on Tuesday evening.
It may not be out of place here to men-It may not be out of place here to mention the prospect for the future. The coming week will be the last, for a year, according to custom, in which the gentlemen are to be the leaders in regard to social matters. Next year will be the ladies' year, and the "sterner sex" must yield their prestige and meekly "pass under the rod." Still they will not feel very sad over the matter, for they won't have to foot the bills, they won't have to get up and build the fire in the morning, or do any of those things which they are allowed (?) to do in other years.

The married man will lie abed morn-The married man will lie abed mornings till the house is warm, and the man who has not attained the felicitous state of matrimony will sit in his parlor and play the piano, first with all his callers and nestle up to his adored on the sofatill the stentorian voice of pater familias announces that it's time to go to bed, and then he will softly say, "Oh pleath sthay longer, he'th only joking," and after an hour or so has passed she will softly pass out into the night, while he will remove his shors and assilently as possible retire is shoes and as silently as possible retire to his room.

In fact the gentlemen will enjoy all the gentlemen will enjoy at those little prerogatives which in other years belong to the ladies. Probably nine out of every ten of the gentlemen who read this will exclaim, inwardly, with Hamlet, "Oh, consumma-tion devoutly to be wished."

THE PAST.

Hon, and Mrs. T. J. Foster gave a linner party on Sunday to a few friends Miss Flora Bittinger entertained a number of her friends in a most pleasant manner Tuesday evening at the residence of her father on South Broadway.

Last evening a very pleasant surprise party was given at the residence of Miss Ada Craig, on Bass street. The guests consisted of the youth and beauty of the city, but the chivalry had but one representative, and that in the person of Lawyer Tinkham, the ex-temperance lecturer, whose graceful manipulations of his feet attracted general attention.

The most elegant hop which has occurred in the city for a long time took place at Arion Hall lest uight under the auspices of Messis. Wilson Hoagland and C. W. Edgerton, of the Qui Vive Club. The affair was'in every way a most brilliant one and was characterized by the elegant costumes of the ludies and the general enjoyment of all.

The participants gave themselves up to the mirth of the occasion and Terpsichorcheld high revel till the lights paled before the dawning day, when sated with pleasure the guests departed to their homes.

The programme of dances consisted of sixteen numbers in two parts as follows: First part, waltz, quadrille, galop, lanciers, waltz, quadrille, polka and waltz, quadrille, waltz and lanciers.

After this came the supper. After supper came the second part of the dance programme, consisting of the following: Waltz quadrille, galop and and waltz.

The muer for the occasion was furnished by the ever-popular Reineke's orchestra of seven pieces, which on this occasion seemed to outdo itself. The floor managers were Messis. Frank McKinnie, C. W. Edgerton, Wilson Hoagland and R. C. McDonald, who did their duty well, and who deserve a great share of the credit for the success which marked the occasion as one long to be remembered by the participants.

The programmes were engraved on tint-

The programmes were engraved on tinted card board, and were perfumed by the popular druggist Thieme.

Supper was served at 12 o'clock by Mr. Gelsmar, of the "Globe." In this, Mr. Gelsmar has shown the people of Port Wayne they can hereafter have suppers served upas they should be, in truly metropolitan style. Two long tables were set in the hall, thereby avoiding the inconvenience, so common heretofore, of going out of the building for refreshments. The waiters were evidently men who had had the right kind of experience, and had the tables so arranged that after the company was once seated there was absointely no delay. The programmes were engraved on tint-

Last Tuesday evening there assembled at the residence of Hon. J. K. Edgerton, No. 87 West Wayne street, about one hundred ticketed guests to listen to the elocutionary exercises gratutously given by Prof. Wentworth, of Providence, R. I., for the Ladies' Society of Trinity Episcopal Church. The professor is a young gentleman of quite prepossessing appearance, so the la-dies said, of pleasant voice, graceful gesture and oratorial gifts of high order. His readings and recitations were happily chosen, consisting of the serious, the face-tious and the melo-dramatic. The autious and the melo-dramatic. The andience was kept in a continual state of excitement, one moment their eyes uncorsciously leaking at the pathetic recital of "Bennie and Blossom," then again changing to merriment over the story of Yacob Straus and the Charcoal Man. It is impossible to convey, in a limited resume, even a faint idea of the eloquence of the speaker. As an elocutionist he would not rank with Murdoch, or as an orator with Randolph, but we can safely say without fear dolph, but we can safely say without fear of successful contradiction, that no ama-teur in his line, save our own Kirtland, has ever given the satisfaction to our people that Prof. Wentworth did on the evening alluded to. For nearly two hours he held his cultured and refined auditory spell-bound by his masterly rhetoric. It's selections, too, were equal to his style.

Sweetly sandwiched between the readings were songs and hippe selections the Sweetly sandwiched between the readings were songs and plano selections, the favorite voices of Miss Jessie Withers and Mrs. E. F. Evers being called into requisition, while Miss Adams and Prof. Wellenstein favored the audience with overtures upon the instrument. The musical portion of the programme was enthusiastically received, and although both ladies were laboring under the depressing effects of severe colds, yet they sang with their characteristic ability.

At the conclusion of the evening's pleasant entertainment, the president of the Ladies Society, by proxy, returned the thanks of the association to Prof. Wentworth for his able and thoroughly enjoyable literary least, to the ladies and their accompaniment for the splendid music furnished, to Mr. Edgerton and his hospitable family for the gratuitous use of his able family for the gratuitous use of handsome parlors and the expenses tending their arrangement, and finally to the audience for their generous patronage and presence. About 530 was netted to the

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN FAIR.

The fair and social in the parlors of the First Presbyterian Church, Thursday evening, was a decided success. The fair was for the aid of the Missionary Society, and was under the management of the tollowing ladies: Mrs. J. Evans, Mrs. Fred. Hayden, Mrs. W. H. Hoffman and Miss Clara Goodwin. The tables were cov-ered with many tasty trifles, prepared by the ladies of the congregation. Of course provision was made for allaying the appe tites of those present, and it took, in this case, the form of an oyster supper. Ample justice was done thereto. The ladies in charge of the affair deserve great credit for the pleasant manner in which it was con-ducted.

CRYSTAL WEDDING. Last Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Last Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. DeGroff Nelson celebrated their crystal wedding at their residence. A very picasant evening was passed, the order of the evening being dancing, stump speeches, and singing 'Pinafore' airs. The couple received many and costly gifts appropriate to the occasion. Among those present were Mrs. William Fleming and family, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Dinnen (nee Fleming), Mrs. Judge Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. Hartsuff, C. B. Woodworth, wife and sisters, D. A. "daisy" are soon to be united. Frank says "Pud." is a darling. We won't give her name, that's a secret. An ambitious young blacksmith of the Pittsburgh shops and a south Hanna street damsel, are soon to join hands in the bonds of matrimony.

The many friends of Julian Lau are making extensive preparations for his approaching marriage with a dashing Columbia street brunette. It is said Tony Dewald, the good notion clerk, will, in a very time, take to himself a companion from the classic precincts of Bloomingdale. Will Tigar is said to be spoken for. Dr. Stone will perform the ceremony for himself and one of the nicest young ladies in the Baptist Church before a great

Walter Tigar will, when the roses bloom, make a fair young lady of East Wayne street happy. The event is anx-lously looked forward to by his many Is that would-be stonemason well, that is to enter into the matrimonial field with west end belle, after he had waited until the bars were shut down in one of our leading dry goods houses last Saturday night?

Richard Markey, the handsome bookkeeper at A. C. Trentman's will, it is stated, soon float out into the matrimonial sea with one of Fort Wayne's fairest daughters.

It is whispered—just whispered, mind you—that Dr. S. B. Brown has been captured at last, and that the future Mrs. B. is a highly educated and accomplished west end tady. Miss Nellie Ninde, daughter of the Hon. L. M. Ninda, of South Wayne, will be married on the 20th inst., to a gentle-man whom she met while traveling in Europe last year. It is said that Frank Wolf, of this office, will soon take a trip to Warsaw, when the day and date will be fixed. She is ne of Warsaw's fairest and most accomplished daughters. Will Tyler and Howell Rockhillare said to be in a fair way to become brothers-in-law as well as nephew and uncle. Their good fortune is the envy of many of our nobby young men. Bart McCarthy, the popular young Wabash machinist, will, when the roses bloom, enter the matrimonial field with one of Gooseville's fairest and most ac complished daughters. Frank Drewhat will soon take unto himself a charming Fairfield avenue belle. Frank and Mary's many friends wish them joy and happiness in their future prosperity and success.

Willie Breen, the talented young lawyer, is eloquently pleading his cause before a fair and accomplished young maiden, and it is stated that the suit will be decided in his favor.

Joe Pratt will, in a short time, board the matrimonial boat with a charming Barr street belle, and sall down the stream of life and taste of happiness and bliss heretofore unknown to him.

A St. Louis gentleman will wed a young lady residing on West Washington street not one hundred miles from Ewing, and a Grand Rapids druggist her sister Cards in June. Double wedding.

Joe France has come to the conclusion that it is not good for man to live alone, and he is going to be married if be has to go clear to Baker street for a bride, t is whispered that the day is fixed.

Rumor had it that C. H. Schnieders was about to lead to the matrimonial al-tar a charming belle from the west; but it proved to be without foundation. Clem says he don't care about shaking the sin gle harness just vet. Two old bachelors, one the popular fireman of Wabash engine No. 103, the other a well known foreman at White's factory, will be married to two charming young comrades on East Jefferson street, in the rosy month of May. 'A prominent and promising young lawyer and one of Wilt street's fairest. What fairest? Yes fairer than the luscious strawberries nestling in the fraudulant bears in early amount from at sight. alent boxes in early spring time at eighty cents a quart—are what? Give it up.

The SENTINEL'S society column is universally pronounced a success, but it imitation is very feeble. Fort Wayne has the reputation of having more good-looking young ladies than any other city in the state. Some of the young ladies of the west end have organized a "History club," which meets every Tuesday afternoon. "Don't print my name in your report of _____''s party" writes a well known lady to our society editor : "but i you do send me fifty extra papers." "Tom and Jerry" parties are all the rage on West Berry street. The nabobs hold their own with Thomas and Jerenilah. The last affair of this kind was a delightful one.

A new dramatic club has been formed in the city, and will give a course of dramatic entertainments during the winter. Miss Carrie Johnson will attend to the management One who is posted thus classifies the Fort Wayne girls: The rich ones live on Berry street, the stylish ones on Main street, the intellectual ones on Wayne street, the "crushers" on Baker street, the first on _____ street, the beauties on—well, all over town.

The Indianapolis People, speaking of the elegance of the Washington Club reception which took place in that city on last Friday night, says: "The representative young ladies were Miss Donnigan, of Louisville, in ecru cachemire; Mrs. Merriweather, of Fort Wayne, in pale blue silk; NEW YEAR CALLS.

The SENTINEL understands that New Year's calling is to be very general this years. Most of our society gents will go the rounds, and the ladies are already making preparations to receive them in grand style. There will be some elegant dressing and some gorgeous spreads. The SENTINEL, in accordance with its custom, will publish a full list of those who will be "at home" to their friends. Ladies are requested to hand in their names for publication next Saturday.

SUNDAY MAIL-SEE IT.

The Livest Kind of a Live House. To day's issue of the SENTINEL contains the largest single advertisement this paper has ever published. It is from the well-known house of Foster Brothers—one of the shrewdest firms of advertisers in the tasks. Brothers—one of the shrewdest firms of advertisers in the state—who never spend a dollar in that direction without carefully computing the outgo and the probable henefit to be derived therefrom. The largely increased patronage of the Sentinus's advertising columns by this and other specially shrewd advertising firms is due to their appreciation of the fact that this paper isnow not only enabled to place their advertisements in almost every reading family in this city, but also in those of Kendallville, Lagrange, Van Wert, Huntington, Hartford City, Columbia City, Warsaw, Blufflon and more than tweity other towns and cities adjacent to Fort Wayne, thus really covering the ground of nearly a score of other papers.

Foster Brothers have done a name moth business ever singe they opened in this pity—twelve years since, and the ownership of the largest and finest business blook in Fort Western the ownership of the largest and finest business block in Fort Wayne is the best eyidence of the favor they have met with at the hands of our citizons. During the last year they have given a wonderful impetus to their business, by turning their establishment into a department store, similar to the cole-brated house of Macy & Co., New York. The new move has largely in greased their trade in thry Goods, Moliopis and Carpets, which were their old departments, and has also resulted in very heavy sales of Furnitme, Tingare, Glaswarp, Cropkery and House keeping Goods generally.

This department system of crowding a dozen kinds of business into one store, under one management, and under but one set of expenses, does unquastionably onable a firm to cut profits to a lower figure than others can afford to sell at, but it is rather hard on the

A keg without a cover—but thereby hangs a tale. This coverless keg was the bone of contention between Mrs. Jennie Fletcher and Constable Wilkinson yesterday afternoon, the result of which was the arrest of the constable on a charge of assault and battery upon Mrs. Fletcher. He was tried before Justice Ryan, who, after hearing the evidence, took the case under advisement until next Monday morning. The facts in the case are substantially as follows: To begin, as all stories of unusual interest do, once upon a time, namely during the late civil war, a detachment of soldiers from Col. Baldwin's regiment made a raid upon a village in South Carolina. Among the houses visited was that of the present senator from South Carolina, Wade Hampton. A single article among the spoils was a magnificent silver punch bowl of unique pattern, being in the shape of a keg, handsomely ornamented, and surmounted by an equally handsome cover. The total value of the service was perhaps something over one hundred dollars. In the hurry of the raid, however, the cover to the same was lost, but the keg was safely carried into camp. This was in the days of the prosperity of the O'Connell Bros, in this city, a number f whose friends fwere included in Col. Baldwin's regiment.

I pon arrival in camp it was unanimously agreed that the article in question should be presented to Dan O'Connell. It was accordingly packed in a knapsack and carried many miles, but tinally safely made its way to this city, and was finally presented to Dan O'Connell. Dan supplied the missing cover by having one made to order in Chicago which was handsomely engraved with the inscription "Presented to P. O'Connell by Col. Baldwin," etc., and adorned the bar of the O'Connell Bro.'s saloon. After the failure of the O'Connells the services occupied positions on various bars in the city, but was still owned and prized very highly by A keg without a cover-but there-

O'Conneil claimed was not included in the schedule. At this he strongly kicked. He made repeated demands for the property without success. Last Thursday Dan dropped into the Model Coffee House and saw the lost article standing on the counter. He at once made demand for it, and was refused possession, and yesterday he swore out a writ of replevin and Constable Wilkinson served the writ and took possession, not however without some resistance on the part of Mrs. Fletcher. Constable W. said he had a writ to take the article and he would discharge his duty and take it regardless of consequences, and take it regardless of consequences which he did and was arrested as above Mrs. Fleether claims that Wilk-inson did not serve the writ did not show his official authority, did not show his official authority, and was unnecessarily rude in his manner, and further, that she is the owner of the article. She accordingly got out a writ to replevin it, but the property could not be found. Mrs. Fletcher says that this keg was not excluded from her chattel mortgage. The right of possession will be decided in court on Monday.

AMUSEMENTS.

The inimitable Joe Murphy, the hest Irish comedian on the stage, will appear at the Academy to-night in his popular new Irish drama, "Shaun Rhue," in which he will present a number of his popular new Irish drama, "Shaun Rhue," in which he will present a number of his best sones and dances. He is supported by a splendid company. Indications are that the Academy will be crowded.

The plot of the play hinges upon the efforts of Brian Calligan to secure, by fair means or foul, the hand of K te Donoran a pretty, witry young Irish girl. Kate, however, is ahready in love with Gerald Kacanagh Will Sands), a well-to-do voung farmer, and she refuses to listen to the suit of the young squire. Her father Moris Donoran (Mr. Armstrong), wishes ner to marry Calligae, and when Larry, takes his sister's part, and advises here to be true to the man to whom she has given her heart, he is ordered to leave his home and go out-penniless into the world to seek his fortune. Larry, disguised as a laborer, Shaun Rhue, accidentally is thrown into the way of Peter Calligan's lawyer Waddy (Mr. Martin), and while in his office finds out the treachery of the Calligans, who are cheating his and while in his office finds out the treachery of the Calligans, who are cheating his sister and himself out of a fortune which has been bequeathed to them. Shaun Rhuw comes home in his disguise, and in an interview with Dora Karanagh (Miss Wiedman) on pretence of being a friend of Larry's, makes her disclose her love for him, while in another interview with Dora's father, a village pedagogue (Mr. Davies, he horrifles the pedantic old gentleman by minicking his grandiloquence. The knowledge of the Calligans' intentions enables Larry to circumvent them, and after rescuing Kale from the younger who tries to secure possession of her by force, he calcloses his identity, and the last act returns home, and a happy denouement follows.

THE WALLACK COMPANY. The famous Wallack Star Company, The famous Wallack Star Company, from New York, will be at the Academy Monday night in Shakespeare's fumortal "Comedy of Errors" or the "Two Dromios" in which the beautiful and talented actress his Genevieve gogers and the eminet actors Owen Fawerett and Frank E. Ajken will assume the leading characters. This is undoubtedly the strongest combination that has visited Fort Wayne this season, and ought to be liberally patronized, as the play is the most amusing and brilliant one now on the stage. Reserved seats can now be secured at Geo. S. Fowler's.

MADAME RENTZ'S MINSTRELS.

Madame Rentz's Female Minstrels, with the Viennaladies orchestra, and the Vivandiere cornet band (all ladies) will appear at the Academy next Wednesday evening, in a novel but refined performance. The principal feature will be the great burlesque of "H M S Pinafere." Seats can be secured at Fowler's three days in allyance.

THE RAILROADS.

Brakeman Flannegan, of the Wabash, fell from an engine at Sidney, Ill., Thursday and was instantly killed.

Jesse L. Williams and Pliny Hoagland left for New York last night to at-tend the meeting of the directors of the P., F. W. & C. R. R. Last evening while engine No. 116 was getting out of the Pittsburgh round was getting out of the Pittsburgh round house, preparatory to going out on train No. 15, a slight aecident occurred. The engineer, P. Reilly, seeing some one give a full signal to back up, thought it was meant for him, and in doing so he struck a freight train, which was also backing up. The first freight car mounted the tank, splitting the sill and draw-bar so that the engine had to be taken back to the house and another sent out in its place. No blame is attached to the freight engineer, as he only obeyed a signal.

The Livest Kind of a Live House. To day's issue of the SENTINELCONtains the largest single advertisement this paper has ever published. It is from the well-known house of Foster Brothers-one of the shrewdest firms of advertisers in the state-who never spend a dollar in that direction without carefully computing the outgo and the probable benefit to be derived therefrom. The largely increased patronage of the SENTINEL's advertising columns by this and other specially shrewd advertising firms is due to their appreciation of the fact that this paper is now not only enabled to their advertisements almost every reading family in this city, but also in those of Kendallville, Lagrange, Van Wert, Huntington, Hartford City, Columbia City, Warsaw, Bluffton and more than fwenty other towns and cities adjacent to Fort Wayne, thus really covering the ground of nearly a score of other papers.

Foster Brothers have done a mammoth business ever since they opened in this city-twelve years since, and the ownership of the largest and finest business block in Fort Wayne is the best evidence of the favor they have met with at the hands of our citizens. During the last year they have given a wonderful impetus to their business, by turning their establishment into a department store, similar to the colebrated house of Macy & Co., New York. The new move has largely increased their trade in Dry Goods, Notions and Carpets, which were their old departments, and has also resulted in very heavy sales of Furniture, Tin-ware, Glassware, Crockery and House keeping Goods generally. department system a dozen kinds of crowding into one store, business under one management, and under but one set of expenses, does unquestionably enable a firm to cut profits to a lower figure than others can afford to sell at, but it is rather hard on the [Miami County Sentinel.] The Fort Wayne DAILY SENTINEL The Fort Wayne Daily Sentinel has a larger circulation in Peru than at any point outside of Fort Wayne. The reason is plain; it is a first-class evening paper, containing all the news that can be found in the Indianapolis News, and reaches Peru three hours earlier than the News, arriving here at 6 p. m. Another reason is that it can be had, delivered at the place of business, or residence of the subscriber, for only 25 cents a month, making it the cheapest daily paper known.
